Mahan's Diary - USS Iroquois (1868)

Mahan's Diary kept aboard the USS Iroquois, 1868-1869.

Thoughts were somewhat upon my sea-and subdued but ^{not} keen that I am humbly ^{not} earnest. Much was done from 7 to

... of the crew and consequent difficulty of doing anything properly; and I have not refrained from complaining. Once or twice I have controlled my temp-erally duty has been rather better attended to.
Our homeward friends away. Temper irritate at the bay Peter, I have owned Sepakow very and angrily. Fastid at lunch

This afternoon I have passed in the same way, studying Butler; slept for an hour. Temper irritated in sound measures dull and despondent.
I shall rise to above it soon. No special aim.
Evening.

At dinner I was enabled to fast as by nature. Temper not quite so irritable yet showing up or twice a little. A little selfish perhaps take a share in the discussion about mess appointments. I am not a little more than the usual
